

A0: Rules of Conduct (SFR)

Uppgift

Background and Objectives

Everything you hand in must be written by yourself or properly quoted. You are responsible for everything that bears your name - no matter if it is a group assignment or an individual assignment. Any form of plagiarism will render an immediate fail on the course. The matter will be reported to the university disciplinary board.

In this assignment you agree to BTH's Rules of Conduct. If you have signed it in another course, you still need to re-sign it for this course (for administrative purposes). Please note that none of the other assignments will be read or graded until you have handed in a signed rules of conduct form.

Failure to reference material is not acceptable. Also the following arguments are not valid reasons:

- "I did not know that I had to add a reference." Answer. Anything that you have not written or thought up yourself must be referenced.
- "I added the reference at the end of the paragraph that I copied." Answer. Your fault here is that you copied a sentence, paragraph or a whole section word by word from another source. This is called a quote, which you surround by quotation marks (a " and a "). You should try to avoid using quotes. We are much more interested to see your interpretation of what you have read (with proper referencing to the inventors of the ideas that you present).

Taks

This assignment is performed individually.

1. Print and study the here attached rules of conduct.
2. Approach the course responsible in case of questions.
3. Sign, scan, and submit the here attached rules of conduct.

Submissions are only accepted using the "Submit answer" button below. No submissions are accepted by e-mail.
